The Veteran-Cycle Club was founded in 1955 to promote the riding and conservation of older cycles, as well as the study of cycles and cycling history.

We publish nine magazines a year, which cover both cycle history and Club activities. News & Views focuses on current events, and The Boneshaker records aspects of cycling history.

We have a library of over 10,000 cycling related documents available for members to reference, and there is a rolling programme to make these available on-line.

We have access to specialists who can help with specific aspects of cycling history and machines.

The Club also operates the John Pinkerton Memorial Publishing Fund, which publishes new and reprinted books with historic cycle interest.
